

Question

- 1• What Is The Difference Between African Music And Fuji Music
- 2• State The Key Difference Between Head Voice And Chest Voice

Answers

1• African Music Is Simply A Genre Of Music While Fuji Is A Music Style From Nigeria Under African Music Music

2• Key Difference

Head Voice And Chest Voice

The Key Difference Between Head Voice And Chest Voice Is The Area Of Your Body Which Feels The Majority Of Resonance .

When One Sings With The Head Voice, The Vibration Is Felt Around The Upper Half Of The Face Whereas When One Sings With The Chest Voice, The Vibration Is Felt Around The Lower Neck And Sternum.👍 👍 👍

Other Answers..1.

African Music

This Refers To All The Music With African Origin.

It Is Widely Acknowledged That African Music Has Undergone Frequent And Decisive Changes Throughout The Centuries. In African Music, The Individual Musician Has His Style And Creativity

For Instance In Nigeria, Some Of Our Most Common Music Styles Includes: Fuji, Amapiano, Highlife etc.

So therefore Fuji is a kind of music in Africa music

2. Difference between Head voice and chest voice When one sings with the head voice, the vibration is felt around the upper half of the face. When one sings with the chest voice, the vibration is felt around the lower neck and sternum.

Quality of Sound

Head Voice is associated with light, bright tones. Chest Voice is associated with deep, thick and rich tones.

Pitch

Head voice produces sounds which are higher in pitch. Chest voice produces sounds which are lower in pitch.

Other Answers 2..

1. There are various types of African music and Fuji is one of them 2. Head voice is the highest range of voice in singing; the vibrations of notes are felt in the head, it's more or less a falsetto, while chest voice is the lower range of singing.....

DATE... 02/03/2018..... THANKS FOR YOUR SUPPORT...